

Whittlesey Halloween Extravaganza

No Affiliation with the Whittlesey Christmas Extravaganza

I have set up the Whittlesey Halloween Extravaganza Event which will be held at the Whittlesey Indoor Bowls and Sports Complex Hall on 22nd October from 10am-4pm.

I have recently been in the Evening Telegraph to promote the event and also will be on the fenland youth radio next week.

Around local businesses are leaflets and posters.

The event is a charity event. My book called Me and My Menopause: Starting early is due to be released next Thursday. So, the event will be raising funds for The Menopause Charity but also two other charities. One stall holder is raising funds for breast cancer and also, we will be having a raffle to raise money called 'Charity of the day' the idea behind this is i will ask all the stall holders to pick their charity of choice and it will be drawn out as our charity of the day. So, 3 charities.

We have in the region of 50 stalls. A hot food van, some of the stalls include horror book authors, tarot card readers, cakes, unique gifts from crafter's, there will be a fancy-dress Competition, prizes and games for kids.

It has had an overwhelming response and I really hope to bring the Whittlesey community together for a fun filled family day.

It would be great to have this on your website to spread the word. I would love see people come and enjoy the day but most importantly let's raise some funds for the fantastic work they do at the charities.

Thank you.
